Carroll
University

Commencement
May 29, 1983

John Carroll University takes its name from John Carroll (1735-1815), the first Catholic Bishop in the United States. He became Bishop of Baltimore in 1789, after five years as Superior of the American Mission. A Jesuit for some twenty years until the suppression of 1773, he was a man of good theological background, and possessed of an historical perspective. He had definite ideas about a liberal arts education, was well-read, and showed himself open to the new experience of the young Church in the United States.

Processional

America, the Beautiful
Led by John Thomas Riga, '83

Oh beautiful for spacious skies,
For amber waves of grain,
For purple mountain majesties
Above the fruited plain!
America! America! God shed His grace on thee,
And crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea.

Oh beautiful for patriot dream
That sees beyond the years
Thine alabaster cities gleam
Undimmed by human tears!
America! America! God shed His grace on thee,
And crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea.

PRESENTATION OF THE SPEAKER AND AMERICAN VALUES AWARD RECIPIENT

Presented by:
Joseph B. Miller
Professor of Communications

"Humour is the great thing, the saving thing, after all."
So Mark Twain, from the heartland of America.
Embarking on your flight of fancy in a Dayton paper,
Rejoicing in a prescient convincing editor,
Mayva, Mildred and Maxine your sisters,
Are liberated from the haunting spectre, "Super-mom."
Bored with the puzzle of crabgrass and lawn suspiciously green,
Or freezers curiously filled, washing Machines carnivorous, endless carpool search for Blue Team at Diamond Twelve, your neighbors of the nation
Echo your adventures, and cry: "That's us!"
Conversations limping at banquet table or at home,
Keeping one's guard to weight and the advancing years.
Husbands who love to camp and fish (but do not tan)
One with their cars in mystic union;
Uncommunicative children, once they have turned teen;
Suburban life, and dogs with too much leisure,
Each comes to life, and makes us laugh.
Wielder of words, you make us so at home
In the midst of boredom and humdrum,
Finding for us the pony in the barn,
Ending with laughter and discovery.
Saluting what you have done to make the nation smile
John Carroll University is happy to grant you
The American Values Award, 1983.

CONFERRING OF DEGREES AND PRESENTATION OF AWARDS

PRESENTATION OF HONORARY DEGREE CANDIDATES

Doctor of Human Service
Dorothy H. Gauchat

Presented by:
Reverend
Kevin G. O'Connell, S.J.
Associate Professor of Religious Studies

Orphans find no father, widows no defender
Unless in God, and His dwelling place on high Redeeming the forsaken in His house
Leading forth the prisoners to unhopd prosperity.
Aided by all your children, of the open hearts,
Dealing out their love for love received,
You have built a house for the least
Of all His brethren. Where cold officialdom
Fails to see the possible, you learned
The careful patience of the poor; and endless
Hope for what the world calls hopeless cases.
Extraordinary in your husband and your heart
Welcoming as guests imprisoned spirits
And loving in children keenly seen the unseen God
You teach us what it is to be a neighbor
Saying with the sage: Often, often, often, goes the Christ
In stranger's guise. You have learned surprise, Dependence on God's foresight and to find Exceptional love in children loved exceptionally.
John Carroll University is honored to honor you
Naming you Doctor of Human Service, honoris causa.

Doctor of Theology
William A. Kinnison

Presented by:
Heidi I. Stull
Associate Professor of Classical and Modern Languages

1483-1983. We remember brother Martin,
Luther, the man made free by grace,
Glorying in the Word and God alone.
He made melodious music of the prophets
Ring anew in simpler German tones;
Master musician, he stringed the language
To their strains, and made the Church to sing
With Christ the good companion in our chorus,
Walking to the girded city, Feste Burg.
Wittenberg the older claimed him as a son;
And there as teacher, minister, committee man and scholar
He pressed for changes of curriculum within;
A man of words, of passion, and a prophet
He called the captive church to native freedom
Captive of the Word which sets her free.
Son of Augustine as monk, and in abandonment,
Doing his theology coram deo, facing God,
Finding Him in drama of his life's unfolding
The interplay of freedom, God and grace.
Here we stand: We are beggars all.
At a newer Wittenberg you work to make the Church
More one; you seek to make free learners
Hearers of the Word, framers of fair words themselves.
In celebration of your work and your tradition
In this year of jubilee, John Carroll University
Grants you the degree, Doctor of Theology, honoris causa.

Doctor of Fine Arts
William M. McVey

Presented by:
Roger A. Welchans
Professor of Fine Arts

Strong guide, you bid us to your bestiary
Where man and beast are dancers in motion and in life.
A long road yours — Paris, Texas, Cleveland,
Lined with the singing children, taking their delight
In polar bears and happy frogs, beached whale,
A meditative pair of goats, a lion cast in bronze,
The blue ox Babe, and a famous grizzly.
If all assembled, your Francis of Assisi
Would preach with them, awakening a crescendo of God's praise.

Solomon on our library is handed wisdom;
Birds on wing and pilots, bankers and conductors,
Olga, Langton and Jan Hus (shrugging off all compromise)
Margaret of Scotland, Montfort and the Lord Chief Justice
In National Cathedral niches, stirred to life,
Hearken to the Christ at Fairmount: Follow me.

And Churchill. The cigar stayed, despite the critics
The upper life just so, firm feet in both his countries.
The young surveyor Washington, Bowie and Davy Crockett
And the frieze at San Jacinto. A long road.

Leza your wife, in exuberant profusion of ceramics
Evergreen and early to work, both weaving a texture
Of creative lives. Enthusiastic guide, happy in work
That blesses us and makes us see the world anew.

John Carroll University is honored to honor you Calling you Doctor of Fine Arts, honoris causa.

PRESENTATION OF ALUMNI MEDALISTS

Thomas J. Gerst, B.S.B.A., '61

President, Alumni Association

THE ALUMNI MEDAL

The Alumni Medals are conferred annually as the highest award of the John Carroll University Alumni Association upon alumni and others who have, through the distinguished conduct of their lives, either brought extraordinary credit to the university or contributed conscientious service to the Alumni Association, or both. The recipients of the award this year are:

DENIS F. HOYNES, JR., B.S.S.

Class of 1956

St. Ignatius, in his "Prayer for Generosity," asked for — among other graces — the ability "to labor and not ask for any reward." Surely our Honoree, in what he has done, has exhibited a like aspiration.

During fully 17 of the 27 years since he received his degree from the university, he has been an officer of the John Carroll University Alumni Association. At various times he has served it as secretary, assistant treasurer, and treasurer. Indeed, he was a moving force in shaping the evolution of that organization into a truly national body, and in paving the way for the inception of its flagship chapter, the Cleveland Club.

Throughout all of his years as an alumnus, he has given tirelessly of his time and energies and talents for his Alma Mater — in the interest of alumni projects, programs, and events too numerous to recount here. Concurrently, he has fashioned an enviable career in accounting and has contributed significantly to the quality of life for children in his community through his administration of summer athletic programs.

In recognition of his notable achievements, we are delighted to confer the richly merited Alumni Medal on Denis F. Hoynes, Jr., of the Class of 1956.

CHESTER B. LYNN, A.B.

Class of 1936

It is said that "enthusiasm finds the opportunities, but energy makes the most of them." Our Honoree's distinguished career is eloquent testimony to this thesis.

Enthusiasm and energy are the traits which have carried Chester B. Lynn to the chief executive officer's seat in a major national corporation, Lawson Products, Inc., of Des Plaines, Illinois, and to a pre-eminent position in the industrial parts distribution industry.

Mr. Lynn prepared for leadership at Cleveland's St. Ignatius High School and at John Carroll University, where he was a member of the first class to graduate from the University Heights campus. True to the Jesuit educational regimen of the day, he majored in Philosophy, minored in English, and immersed himself in the Classics.

Though international conflict twice delayed his business ambitions — he served both during World War II and Korea — it failed to dim his characteristic drive to succeed. In 1958, Mr. Lynn joined Lawson Products to launch a career that revolutionized his company and his industry. Through his successful development and management of a nationwide chain of independent sales representatives, Lawson Products has grown during its "Lynn Era" from less than $1 million in sales to more than $100 million annually. In 1978, in honor of his 20th year with the company, Lawson established the Chester B. Lynn American Values Scholarship to assist John Carroll students.

In recognition of his notable business career, his continuous support of university programs and alumni activities, and his exemplary devotion to his family as a husband and father for more than four decades, the Alumni Association is honored to present its Alumni Medal to Chester B. Lynn of the Class of 1936.

ERMA BOMBECK, whose insight it is that children are a punishment from God, was born in Dayton and attended the University of Dayton. She worked at the Journal-Herald there, and after marriage to William L. Bombeck, spent a decade at home, raising three children — Betsy, Andrew and Matthew. Her adventures there revealed the mysteries and the terrors of the home, and the truth about the suburbs. Her column, in which so many women, and indeed, families, recognize themselves, is syndicated in some 800 newspapers nationally; collections from those columns have appeared as books with extremely imaginative titles. Mrs. Bombeck is frequently on television, and now manages the tyranny of her column, her many appearances, and articles for national magazines, from Phoenix, Arizona.

DOROTHY GAUCHAT attended Notre Dame College of Ohio, and left to marry William J. Gauchat. They were both greatly influenced by Dorothy Day, and by the ideas of Peter Maurin. The Gauchats, with a family of their own, were asked to take a dying child into their home. The child lived — on their love — for a longer time than anyone expected. Since that time, as individuals, and as people believing that they could make a difference by being a neighbor to those who were in need, and without the help or the style of institutions, they planned, and built, Our Lady of the Wayside, in Avon, Ohio, where the thou of the developing exceptional child is prime. Mrs. Gauchat, after the death of her husband, carries on her work with the help of private contributions. She also has a home called The Croft for children after they've reached 21 years of age, but still stand in need of a caring place.

WILLIAM A. KINNISON was born in Springfield, Ohio; attended Wittenberg University, Wisconsin and Ohio State Universities. He and his wife, Lenore, have three children (one of whom was confirmed this morning). He became president of Wittenberg in 1975. In 1982, he, a Lutheran layman, was appointed by the presiding officers of three Lutheran church bodies, to be the general chairman of a commission to form a new Lutheran church body in America. This process is now ongoing. This significant drawing together of the church is of great ecumenical interest. Lutherans have a tradition of attention to liberal education, and Wittenberg is an example of that. 1983 (300 years since the first migration of Germans to the New World) is the fifth centenary of the birth of Martin Luther, great figure of the Reform, and professor at Wittenberg "the older."

WILLIAM M. MCVEY, born in Boston, educated in Cleveland; after a stint at Rice where he played football for Heisman (born in Ohio City, by the way) he came back to the Institute of Art. In Paris, he studied under Despiau, where he came to know les animaliers tradition, whence his interest in sculpting animals. The bank holiday of the early thirties made him an overnight tour guide. The British Embassy has his famous statue of W. S. Churchill; there is also a heroic head of W.S.C. at Chartwell, and the Smithsonian; and the "Churchill Porch" at the National Cathedral. Tireless teacher, excellent lecturer, his oeuvre covers man and beast. In their atelier home in Pepper Pike, his artist wife, Leza, and he work on, after teaching in Texas, Michigan, and at the Cleveland Institute of Art.

The University and Alpha Sigma Nu, the National Jesuit Honor Society, wish to thank Dr. Joseph E. Magner, Jr., Professor of English, for accepting their commission to write a poem for the Class of 1983.

CHORAL ODE¹

For Baccalaureate Mass

May 28, 1983

(For the students, alumni and all people of John Carroll University)

What can an old man, long at the oars, say to those who push
with burnished bodies, burning souls their great new long boats into thunder of thrashing spray?
What can I say
to fortify
against future crests of fright or increase the celebration of their spontaneous dawns?
Shall I recall,
as a lonely Master² on a London street,
the compound ghost of a thousand voices
we have learned at school,
in whose primordial music
may be the phrase
that is the light
for the heart's longest night?
On shore, ancient boys
play cosmic chess
with us as pawns
and world, an abstract chessboard that never bleeds
a rubbled orphan.
What shall I say
that will make their separate journeys
transcend themselves to Oneness?
Only this:
We are the arms of the armless God,
pinioned and silent
of our centers.
Christ comes in odd shapes
and crouches beneath the bridge, shivers in alleys of his mortal heart
for enclosure of disciplined arms, dozes above lines of ancient masters,
dreaming through drone of classroom lectures.

We put coins upon the eyes of God
after closing his lids for rest.
We bathe his eyes in light
in each of our delivery rooms.
The paupered Lord
is on the highway
of the dark prairies' dreaming sod,
in blare of headlights
do we see His mystic form,
a frail and ragged figure of our first landfall
who has heard the rumored news
of ships offshore.
We are the arms of the armless God
who pushed out long ago
or push out, now, in Spring of life,
our faith, still, in the Power
that sinews arms,

Ocean to our receding waves,
Singer of the songs we sing,
Ground of our nights and days,
No-thing, yet Source of All:
If there are fathers, He is Father,
if there are mothers, She is Mother,
if there are brothers, sisters, they are there implicitly;
Beyond, yet in our midst;
Nameless, yet of our lips
that whisper
to our child
and that whisper
never lost
but retained.

After all readings, holy and profane,
after all trials, things done and undone,
seek Him in the simplest way.
After all prescriptions, all obstructions between our souls and their Sacred Ground, after all sorrows, confusion, illusionary needs,
hang-ups that spin us
from our centered Way,
cling to nothing,
ego, our only cross,
seek Him in the simplest way:
In the dark eyes of His compassion
at the Center of our being,
now blessed
in His stare,
Shall we say,
"I seek You as You would have me seek You,
I pray as You would have me pray,
I am quiet, now, with Your nameless Life,
Am in love, now, with Your Juda Fire,
Am still, now, in stipes³ of Your night,
Awake, now, in patibulum⁴ of Your day,
Empty, that You may fill me,
And fool, that I may be your child."

Ite! Ite! Ite!
Burnished bodies, burning souls
Ite! Ite! Ite!
Celebrants of unseparate dawns,
Now, children of the Father,
Ite! Ite!
Missa
Semper Est!
Nunc, Abba! Abba! Abba!
Ave! Ave! Ave!
Mater Dei!
Veni! Veni! Veni!
Creator!
Spiritus!⁵

⁴The horizontal part of the Cross.

⁵"Ite" translates from the Latin as "Go!" In this context as "Go forth!" Then, the last seven lines translate, in order:

Go forth! Go forth!
The Mass
Is Always Being! (actualized in the world)
Now, (you may pray) Father! Father! Father!
Hail! (we greet Thee) Hail! Hail!
Mother of God!
Come! Come! Come!
Creator!
Spirit!

ACADEMIC DRESS

European universities show more diverse costumes than do American schools. In the procession, both sorts will be seen. Generally:

Gowns

The Doctoral gown has bell sleeves with velvet trim. More commonly black, but it can be the color of the academic discipline. The Master's gown has half or oblong sleeves. The Bachelor's gown has the long pointed sleeves; and it is always closed in the front.

Hoods

Doctors, Masters, and Bachelors are 4', 3½' and 3' respectively, and all are black. The color of the velvet is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains, e.g., Arts, White; Business, Drab; Education, Light Blue; Law, Purple; Philosophy, Dark Blue; Science, Golden Yellow; Social Work, Citron; Theology, Scarlet. All hoods are lined with the official colors of the school conferring the degree.

Caps

The traditional is the mortarboard, though the tam and the Elizabethan will be seen on some of the faculty. The tassel is most often black, Doctors frequently wear gold, and lawyers wear purple.
